BRIGHTON HIGH SCHOOL

BRIGHTON, MASSACHUSETTS

EDITOR'S NOTE

We, the Gothic staff, wish to present this, the seventeenth volume of the Senior Annual to the graduating class of 1945. There have been difficulties in making this book; war-time limitations have necessarily created them. The willing cooperation and sincere interest of the staff, however, have relieved whatever problem existed.

Special thanks go to Miss O'Neill who has been faculty adviser and, indeed, much more than that. Without her ready hand, this book would not be what it is today.

HEADMASTER

FOREWORD

The members of the Class of 1945 are eager and anxious to serve their country. Many of the boys have already joined the colors and the boys still remaining in school are preparing to enter military service in the near future. The girls, too, have done their full share by participating in all activities available to them to further the war effort.

This fine spirit of loyalty, sacrifice, and patriotism is characteristic of our whole student body, but naturally the senior class has assumed its rightful position of leadership.

An intense interest has been displayed by members of the senior class in the kind of peace which will follow the cessation of hostilities in World War II. I like to believe that the thoughts, ideas, and constructive suggestions offered by our boys and girls are accurate indexes of the views and activities of other boys and girls of their age thoughout the whole country, for then this younger generation will exert a forceful influence toward shaping a lasting peace and a national policy which will make our cherished country and the rest of the world better places in which to live.

A Tribute

The world will always remember the greatest leader of our time, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who gave his life that people might be free. To us he is the only president we have known. For more than twelve difficult years he was the guiding spirit of the people. Handicapped as he was physically, he taught the world a lesson; the lesson of physical courage. Overcoming all obstacles, he became the leader of the greatest and most powerful nation on earth.

Franklin Roosevelt has become a symbol to other lands of all that this nation stands for. His death especially at the time it came, shocked the world. Millions of people everywhere considered Roosevelt the greatest world citizen of their time. All did not agree with his policies; but all loved and respected him, and felt a great personal loss when he died.

During the darkest hours of war his words brought comfort and new hope to both the stricken lands abroad and his people at home. At the time of his passing victory for all that he believed in could be seen at last. The fall of Berlin and also Tokyo was in sight. The world will long mourn the loss of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the great humanitarian. "A successful peace must be his monument".

We, the members of the Class of 1945 hereby dedicate our lives to the successful winning of the permanent peace for which our noble and beloved leader, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, planned, labored and died.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Class of 1945 is leaving the Brighton High School in the most significant days of our nation's history and its members are beginning a new phase in their lives. This class must become acquainted with the world it is entering and will experience again and again an emotion heretofore unknown; sorrow at leaving school. Old friends will be seen all too seldom; old haunts will be visited only occasionally; Brighton High School itself will be relegated to the background. When we of the class shall see our classmates together for the last time at graduation, only then shall we realize the value of comradeship; the gaiety, the small griefs and the great joys that are an integral part of high school life. We move forward, ready to study, or to work, or to battle that we may prove that we have within us the courage and strength and will to accomplish the task that lies before us.

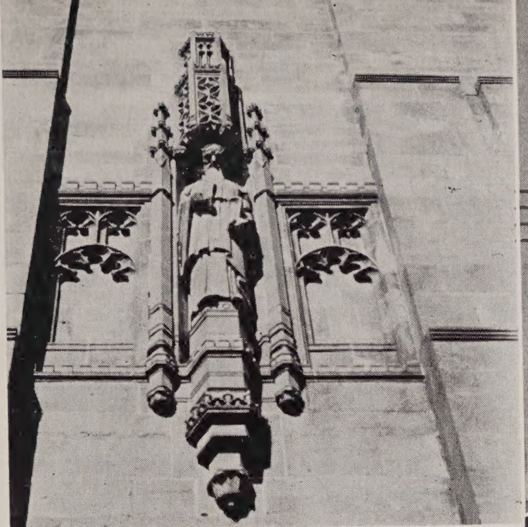
Brighton Towers

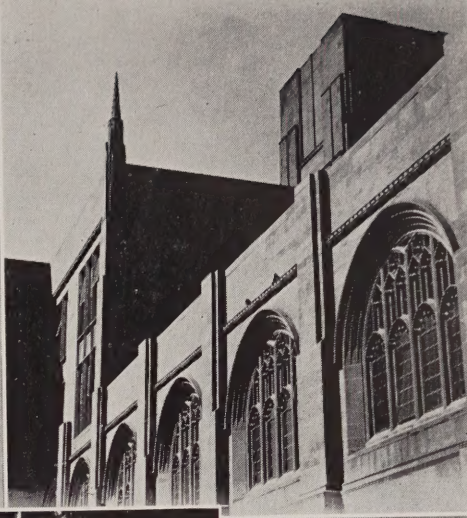
BRIGHTON TOWERS, the magazine of Brighton High School, has entered its third year under war-time conditions. During this period, our publication has been sent to as many graduates as possible who are so valiantly representing our school in all theatres of war. From the far-off corners of the world have come innumerable letters expressing the gratitude of "our boys" for bringing back to them memories of their Alma Mater.

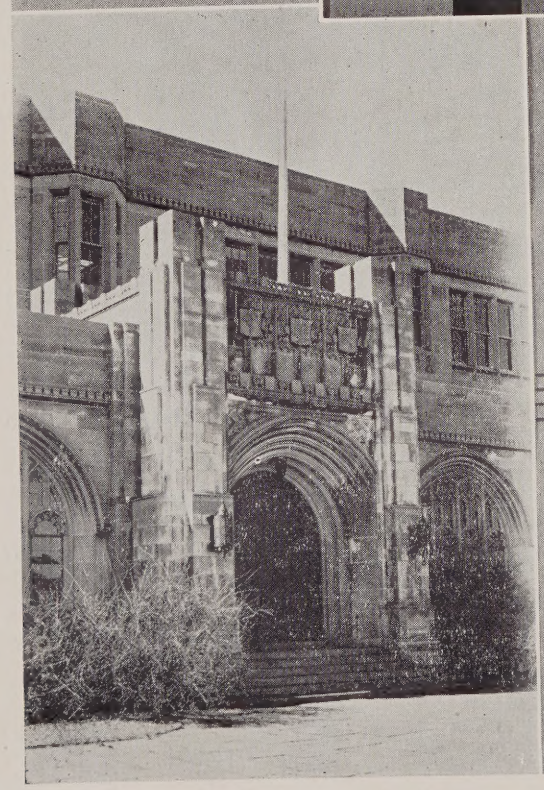
With such an increased public, the BRIGHTON TOWERS' staff, composed of students with initiative and literary ability, has endeavored to make our magazine really outstanding. Published every two months, it contains chatty news About Our School, timely editorials, stories, a few essays, poems, all of which are written by students. Such pictures as our football team in action, or familiar scenes around the school add the finishing touch. Our February issue, in particular, met with great enthusiasm. Dedicated to our boys in uniform, this issue had a distinctly military theme.

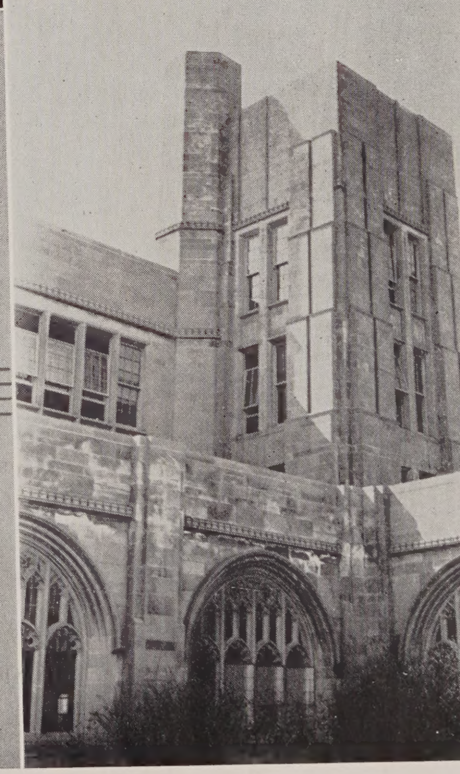
With help from the faculty, through the excellent cooperation of the staff, two prominent members of whom are Herbert Rubin, Literary Editor, Robert Desmond, Associate Editor, we can truthfully say that BRIGHTON TOWERS had a most successful year. It is of little wonder, therefore, that Brighton High School is proud of its magazine; it has a right to be!

JACQUELINE HUPE,
Editor-in-Chief









1945 - Class Poem - 1945

Shadowed by portals forever held dear,
Sadly we linger as parting draws near.
Gone is our laughter so happy and gay,
Gone our loved friends, as our farewells we say.

Once we were many and now we are few.
Thinned are the ranks, for the khaki and blue
Beckoned our boys, and they went with a will,
Leaving our castle set high on the hill.

Scattered are they who so gladly have gone,
Fighting to free lands in chains far too long.
Pause we in prayer these brave lads to enfold—
Bright keep their mem'ry, though blue stars turn gold.

We who remain have our tasks to perform;
Brave may we be through fair weather or storm.
The future now beckons us, misty and gray;
Steep the ascent, and the goal—who can say?

Happy yet sad is this day of all days
As we choose, eagerly, separate ways;
Valiant endeavor our spirit commands—
Rainbows or ladders—achieved by our bands.

Dear Alma Mater, from each grateful heart
Praises resound as thy children depart;
Strong in thy wisdom, and proud of thy fame,
We'll win renown for thy glorious name.

ANNETTE MUSSELLS, '45

In Memoriam

On the sixth of January 1944, one of our best loved classmates passed from our midst.

We, who studied with Arlene Bonin remember her superior intellectual abilities; we, who enjoyed the privilege of her companionship recall her fine friendly qualities. She was as beautiful as she was lovable. Arlene Bonin, we miss you.

BRIGHTON HIGH SCHOOL
BOSTON

Drum and Bugle Corps

This year more than ever before the Brighton High School Drum and Bugle Corps has felt the weight of the war. Members departed periodically throughout the year to join the armed forces. However, despite this most disturbing factor the corps carried on with admirable spirit.

By its performance on Drill Day and at assemblies throughout the school year, the corps has won distinction for itself as well as for the school. Under the excellent command of their Captain, Robsham, and the capable instruction of Mr. Sordillo, the Drum and Bugle Corps has set a high mark for their successors.

Orchestra

This year, more than ever, our school has felt the weight of the war which is so evident in our ever decreasing numbers. But despite this discouraging factor we have maintained an orchestral group worthy of the reputation of our school. This could only be accredited to one thing, and that is to the diligent effort of our leader, Mr. H. Dana Strothers and his capable assistant, Mr. Warren C. Burnham. No words can express the appreciation we have for these men.

The number of our group was small but the spirit was great. In our midst we had four violins, three trumpets, two trombones, two French horns, two pianists, an accordianist, drums and brass: a good variety for a group so small.

Although our duties were few, the responsibility was large. Aside from our most important demonstration at Graduation we were called upon for many assemblies.

The Glee Club has completed another successful year under the capable leadership of Mr. Burke. We congratulate him on his splendid direction of this organization, and the splendid results obtained.

Girls who wish to become members of our club are eligible after their voices have been tested by Mr. Burke. When they have been admitted to the Glee Club their ability to read music and their appreciation of tone quality are steadily developed. We sincerely hope that more girls will come forward and make Brighton High's Glee Club the finest Glee Club in the City of Boston.

Band

The band this year is a very effective organization, although it has been smaller than in previous years. The war deprived it of some promising personnel, and two members, Marius Vavoudes and Cecil Coates left because of a date with Uncle Sam. A handful of seniors remained to show the juniors how it should be done! Prominent among these were Leonard Appel, Bill Englemann, Herbert Kaye, Peter Siragusa, and Greg Goolishian. Charles Demarkle was kept on the inactive list as the result of an operation.

Whatever the Band has lacked in the way of members it has made up for in quality and enthusiasm. James Stevens, known for his gift as a pianist, has helped to develop the brass section, as has also Wilbur Ford, who doubles with camera and flash-bulbs; not to forget Henry Maloof, whose name is known beyond the school walls for his almost professional skill with the trumpet. These are just a few who have distinguished themselves for their ability and cooperation.

Finally, a word of thanks to Mr. Sordillo and his loyal assistants Mr. Patch, Mr. Barrett, and Mr. Lightainger, for their hard work and competent instruction. Sincere thanks are also due from the members for the genial intelligent guidance of Mr. William Walsh.

Le Cercle Français, avec l'excéllente coopération des membres et des officiers sous l'influence de notre incomparable Mademoiselle Miller, jouit d'une année à la fois heureuse et divertissante.

Le but des séances, qui avaient lieu tous les mois, fut d'aider les membres à parler et à mieux apprécier la langue de la diplomatie. Ce but fut réalisé par de petites scénettes et des jeux dans lesquels tous les membres prenaient part. Nous dévouions une partie de chaque séance aux chansons françaises. Le séance de Noël fut particulièrement amusante. Des chansons de Noël furent chantées et de petits cadeaux furent échangés. En effet nous nous sommes amusés en essayant de parler français autant que possible et nous avons tâché de rendre notre Cercle Français le meilleur qu'il ait jamais été.

Durante el ano pasado el CIRCULO ESPANOL tenia muchas reuniones interesantes. Jueguecitos se jugaron, cuentos se leyeron en espanol, y pequenos dramas se presentaron. El objeto era hablar: hablar en espanol. En medio del ano la senorita Maguire tomo carga del circulo, un oficio que la senorita O'Neill antiguamente habia tenido. Los alumnos que asistieron al club eran cooperativos y utiles. Las reuniones eran interesantes, instructivas, y productivas. Quiero que el circulo espanol del proximo ano tenga el mejor exito!

Vice-President	Laura Bratko
Secretary	Selma Berkson
Treasurer	Flora Bratko

The Reading Club, under the friendly supervision of Miss Bailey and Miss Marshall, meets the second Wednesday of every month. Its members are girls who earned honor grades in English their junior year.

To create a friendly interest towards good books and well-known authors is the main purpose of the club. Book reviews, plays, essays, poetry, biographies—all have their place in our programs. Special activities are planned for the holidays which include Thanksgiving Day, Christmas, Valentine's Day and Mother's Day. Songs and refreshments add to the interest in the club.

On Junior Day, we entertain the future members with a play, music, games, and refreshments. We sincerely hope that they may enjoy as many delightful hours in the Reading Club as we have.

Spiele, Besprechungen, Volkslieder und Erfrischungen, alles dieses gab den Mitgliedern viel Freude, vielleicht wegen der mehr Mitglieder als in frueheren Jahren. Der Hoehepunkt der Versammlungen war der Gesellschaftsnachmittag zur Weihnachtsfeier als der Klub ein Buch als Geschenk der Bibliothek der Schule ueberreichte.

Unser Ziel war die deutsche Sprache besser zu koennen und mit Deutschland und den deutschen Sitten bekannt zu werden. Wir dieses Ziel erreicht haben.

Wir koennen ehrlich sagen dass wir ein erfolgreiches Jahr hatten, und wir wuenschen ein gleiches den zukuenftigen Mitgliedern.

Music Appreciation Club

President	Lillian Pearl
Vice-President	Elaine Rubin
Secretary	Joyce Mawhinney
Treasurer	Jeanne Golden

The Music Appreciation Club, under the capable direction of Miss Miller, has enjoyed a satisfactory and profitable year. Our activities have led us to a greater and more intensive appreciation of the finer things of life, from the standpoint of music. In pursuit of this appreciation, we have investigated, to some extent, the lives and backgrounds of the various composers and listened to, as well as discussed, selections from their works.

The sophomores, juniors, and seniors, comprising the membership of the club have worked and contributed, each in their own way, to the success of the club. On behalf of these members and myself, I wish to thank Miss Miller for her cooperation and hope that the Music Appreciation Clubs of the future will continue to thrive on music.

The Dramatic Club had a very pleasant year under the guidance of Mr. McNamara. Members of the club received valuable training in the various aspects of dramatic interpretation: voice, diction, and gesture. Perhaps the most exciting event in the club annals was the elction of officers! Following a familiar and democratic tradition, the director appointed officers after a competition which saw a rich display of histrionic talent. However, the most significant results of our meetings were undoubtedly the improvement in poise and vocal power achieved by so many members. It will not be easy to forget some of our early timidity and shyness, which, of course, vanished under the stentorian, yet kindly admonitions of our director. It is scarcely necessary to say how grateful we all are to Mr. Joseph L. McNamara.

Officers of the Student Council for the year 1944, 1945

President	BARBARA A. GANNON
Vice-President	DORIS YOUNG
Secretary	AUBERTE BOULAIS
Treasurer	JEAN FORD

This year the Council meetings were planned by a very efficient executive committee.

The various talent shows that were seen and enjoyed by the pupils and by the patients of the Marine Hospital were sponsored by the Council.

Our flag of blue, white, and gold was presented Class Day of 1944, where it added to the color of the pageant. This flag will be in all class day processions henceforth. The motto of the Council, "Ready for Service and Worthy of Trust" is inscribed on the flag in Latin.

Pins of blue and gold with B. S. C. on them were purchased for all the members of the Council.

We, the Council of 1945, wish our successors as prosperous and happy a year as we have enjoyed.

The Senior Girls' Commercial Club, one of the most active clubs of Brighton High School, began its fourteenth successful year early in October under the able guidance of Miss Burpee. The purpose of this club is "to stimulate interest in commercial education through social intercourse."

The officers meet every week to arrange various activities for the members of the club.

In October the Commercial Club had a Halloween party which was held in the auditorium. The officers spoke on various commercial topics and this discussion was followed by entertainment, dancing, singing, and refreshments. It was a most enjoyable occasion!

Although the Commercial Club of '45 is now past history, it is the sincere wish of its members that the coming years will honor and uphold this important school organization, and will strive to keep up the high standard that the club has already attained.

Brighton High School Patrol

The Brighton Patrol was organized for the purpose of assisting in the supervision of the pupils in the lunchroom. This patrol, under the guidance of Mr. Dowell and Mr. Romano, has rendered effective service.

Members of the patrol are selected because of their ability to exercise tact and firmness in securing the cooperation of all pupils.

The prudent management by the patrol of lunchroom routine is characterized by its desire to make lunchroom conditions agreeable and desirable. Pupils, while enjoying themselves, are expected, and if necessary, cautioned to have due consideration for others.

The success of the patrol is evident from the laudable conduct of the pupils, and the very creditable appearance of the lunchroom. The members of the patrol are to be commended for the zeal with which they discharge their duties; they have shown their appreciation of the confidence reposed in them.

Cheer Leaders

The success achieved during the past season by our stalwart and hard fighting gridiron team was due in no small measure to our loyal and devoted Cheer Leaders. Their efforts in selecting the cheers, introducing them to the student body, and leading them at the games, was credited by Coach Murphy, Captain Ferreira and the football team with being a great moral support to our team.

Captain Auberte Boulais, Barbara Gannon, Janet Hull, Mary Mazzola, Mary Clotherty, Katherine Commerford, Gertrude Twomey, Ruth Bannon, Dorothy Gannon and Marilyn Jenkins, who so cheerfully and willingly gave their time and energy for the football team, have won the gratitude of Coach Murphy, the teachers, and the student body.

Mr. Leary has encouraged the Cheer Leaders by his splendid cooperation and loyal support in all their efforts for a victorious team.

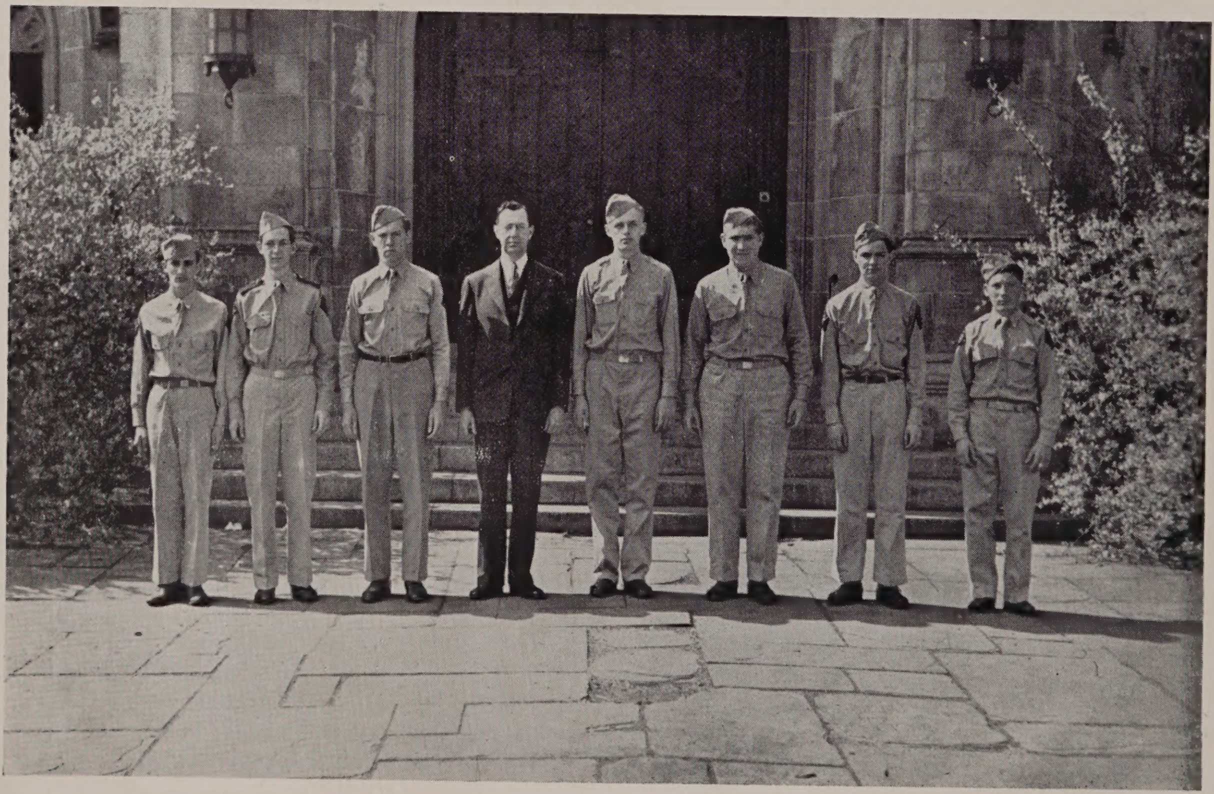
Regimental Drill

directed by

Capt. Robert V. Dallahan
U.S.M.C.R.
(Retired)



Dombrowski, MacLean, Bradbury, Mr. Leary, Johnston, Casale, Chambers, Vatalaro

Although the armed forces and defense work called to duty many of our boys this year, six crack companies were formed.

By combining the skill of Captain Dallahan and ability of the officers, these six companies became one of the finest regiments this school has ever seen.

On April 27th the regimental competition was held at school. Not only did the companies prove their skill but also the band demonstrated in a first class manner. After each company had performed, the judges awarded the following prizes:

1st Prize—Colonel	Herbert Johnson
2nd Prize—Lt. Colonel	Bruce Chambers
3rd Prize—Major	Mario Casale
4th Prize—Major	Joseph Dombrowski
5th Prize—Major	Michael Vatalaro

Football

Off to a flying start Brighton's eleven scored the smashing victory of 18-0 over Brandeis Vocational, their first opponent of the season. Fink Greene starred in the game; John Adams and Don Bradbury did their bit each contributing a touchdown.

Although their future games were not so impressive, the team under the leadership of its Captain, Joseph Ferreira, fought stubbornly and made a fine showing.

Prominent lettermen were: Captain Ferreira, Romano, Bradbury, Coletti, Butera, and Greene. Equally important were: Boly, Godbolt, Guthro, Niccols, Cavanaugh, Dunlap, Clancy, Shimini, and Siragusa who performed admirably on the field.

To Captain Romano and next year's team go our best wishes for a successful season.

Hockey

Again they are off to another successful season of hockey. They, are of course, the Brighton High School Six. This triumph is due to the coaching abilities of Mr. Murphy. This year the team consisted of: Stanley Aldonus, right wing; Dick Glancy, centre; Jimmy Hurley, left wing; Guido Centola, right defense; Frankie Dean, left defense, and Ray Falcanor in the cage. Bob Culgin was an alternate, a fact which strengthened the team very much. The team and all the pupils who are leaving the school this year wish next year's team an even greater success. The Hockey Team of 1945 salutes the players of 1946!

Frankie Dean

Track

Brighton's small but valiant track team succeeded in taking a fourth place in the District Meet. It was not a lack of ability but a lack of point winners that set the team back.

The outstanding speedsters of the year were: James Godbolt, who took a place in both the high jump and hurdles of the District and State Meets, Tony Basile, who was first place winner of the district 100 yard run; and Ken Gillis, who captured the district high jump title as well as second place in both the district and regimental two hundred and twenty yard.

Everett Ryan, who completed a successful season of track, was unable to run in the Districts owing to an injury. Other outstanding point winners were: Arthur Dunbar, Donald Bradbury, Peter Kavanough, Joseph Ferreira, Domenick Mazzola, Karl Pulsifer, Gerardo Coletti, and Ara Zulalian.

The relay team, composed of Green, Cocuzzo, Zulalian, and Coletti gained second in the Districts only to be beaten by Hyde Park.

The departing seniors wish next year's track team all possible success!

DONALD BRADBURY,
Captain

Baseball

Despite the lack of experienced players and the small number of candidate players Coach Murphy worked diligently to produce a really good baseball team.

Under the co-captainship of Jimmy Hurley and Ara Zulalian, one of the smallest teams in the school's history carried on in the true Brighton manner.

First team berths were held by the following:

1st Base	Neuhoff	Pitcher	Kaye
2nd Base	Barnoth	Catcher	Doyle

The rest of the team composed of: Gilliat, MacLaughlin, Niccols, MacKay, Cavanagh, Olsen.

Although the team was rather small this year, we hope that next year Coach Murphy will have a larger turnout and that they will bring honor and glory to the school.

Social

Senior Promenade

Alas! The most outstanding event ever to be produced by the Senior Class of Brighton High School has unfortunately faded into the past; however, the memories of the gala gathering will long remain in the minds of all those who participated in the festivity.

On Friday evening, February sixteen, at eight o'clock, attractive couples attired in formal dress drifted through the entrance of the prettily decorated ballroom of the Hotel Bradford. One of the decorations that loyal Seniors heralded was the beautiful Brighton banner of black and gold velvet, the gift of the faculty in the early days of the High School.

Throughout the course of the evening, one of America's leading orchestras, under the baton of Baron Hugo, furnished delightful music. The mellifluous strains of blended harmony produced a wonderful atmosphere throughout the evening. The Grand March, which was led by Gerardo Coletti and his charming partner, Mary Mazzola, showed off the gowns of the glamorous girls and their handsome escorts. The order of the dances was: Novelty dance, Balloon dance, Elimination dance, Medley dance, Moonlight dance, and the final dance dedicated to our Head Master.

Those who contributed their all-out efforts to bring about the Prom were: Josephine L. Donisi, chairman of the executive committee, Janette J. Hull, Mary M. Cloherty, and Gerardo C. Coletti.

The committee, members of the senior class, and their guests extend special thanks to Mr. John Fuller, faculty adviser, who has so capably arranged an evening of joy which vied with any previous school Promenade in its perfection of detail: the monagrammed dance orders, the glamorous Grand March, and the pleasant service of refreshments.

Senior Play

"A WOMAN OF FIFTEEN"

On May fourth, the traditional Senior Play was held in our school auditorium, where a large appreciative audience welcomed the sparkling comedy of youth, A Woman of Fifteen.

In Alice Chadwicke's humorous, heart-warming play, the captivating young heroine, Jane Lyons, took the problems of her family on her shoulders with fascinating results. One comic situation followed another in rapid succession. The dialogue had that crackling crispness which created a riot of laughs.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnham deserve much praise for the wonderful work they did to make this play something to remember. Mrs. Burnham was an excellent coach, a true friend, and a fine companion. The cast thoroughly enjoyed a delightful party which was given by the Burnhams.

Talent Show

New to our school this year was the Talent Show produced through the efforts of our Student Council. A cast of thirty boys and girls was picked and a program was drawn up.

On November 22 we presented the product of our efforts to the student body of Brighton High School.

Being highly appreciated we then moved in upon the United States Marine Hospital next door to try and do a little for those boys who have done so much in their way. Their applause repaid us doubly for the time and effort we had put into this show.

We, of the cast, sincerely hope that we have instituted another grand tradition in the course of our school year.

Class Day

Class Day, the day we had looked forward to, and worked toward throughout our High School careers had at last arrived. As if in answer to many a silent prayer the weather was beautiful, warm and sunny.

As we filed to our places on the terrace we could not help feeling a thrill of pride in seeing the outstanding members of our class waiting to receive the awards for their achievements.

The solemn beauty and dignity of the occasion were well typified by the Spirit of Brighton High, Dorothy A. Reynolds, who, dressed in white robes, and seated high above the student body upon a dais, presided over the Class of 1945.

A hush came over the guests and students assembled on the terrace, as Joseph L. Ferreira, the Class Herald, stepped forward to deliver the address which would mark the opening of our Class Day exercises.

Hear ye! Parents and comrades! We, the Class of 1945, gladly welcome you on this our festive day. For three happy years, Brighton High School has been our Alma Mater. Now we stand at the open door, ready to leave her sheltering walls for the great adventure of life. Ere we say a courageous "All hail" to the unknown future, we pause for a sad and grateful farewell to our loved school.

Let the Representatives of the Juniors who will so soon move forward into our places, now join the Seniors in singing, "Hail Dear Alma Mater the symbol of victory.

Some among us merit especial recognition for high scholastic achievement which brings them well deserved rewards, and reflects honor on their school.

Let the winner of the Anna Judson George Scholarship for Excellence in English receive from the Spirit of her Alma Mater the symbol of her victory.

Let the winners of the Brighthelmstone Club Scholarships receive the meed of their intellectual conquests from the Spirit of Brighton High School.

Let the Senior and Junior Honor students unite in placing the laurels of their attainments at the feet of their Alma Mater.

We now bestow praise on a member of the Senior Class, Ara Zulalian, who has been conspicuous during the year in promoting the Brighton High School spirit in athletics, both in school and on the field, and who has been personally faithful, honorable, and reliable. Let him come forward and receive a medal which betokens his accomplishments.

We now commend a girl of the Senior Class, Ruth Erickson, who has won distinction in the course in Physical Education for girls.

We also commend a boy of the Senior Class, Donald Bradbury, who has won distinction in the course of Physical Education for boys and now present him with this medal.

To this school are we loyal, and in our loyalty we are united. But we the "many members in one body". Our various courses give opportunity for the full development of various powers. Let a member of our Cooperative Course, Philip McKay come forward to pay homage to our Alma Mater.

Let next a member of our Commercial Course, Ingeburg Bein render grateful acknowledgement to her Alma Mater.

To these two let there be joined one from our College Course, Irene Verona that together all three may show honor to Brighton High School, and receive the medals which shall memorialize their splendid ideals, their loyalty, and their integrity in which Alma Mater may justly take pride.

Ere we move out into the ranks of Alumni, we transmit to our successors certain privileges and responsibilities which, we have gladly and faithfully fulfilled during our Senior year. We relinquish these offices to our Junior comrades with the hope that they may regard them as opportunities for serving their school, and, in filling them, add fresh glories to the name of Brighton High School.

Let the President of the Senior Class, Gerardo C. Coletti invest the President of the Junior Class, Robert Desmond with the gavel, the insignia of his office.

Let the President of the Student Council, Barbara A. Gannon transmit to the Junior officer, Doris Young the banner of the Student Council as the symbol of her office.

Now shall the Chief Marshal Aubert Boulais escort into the presence of the Spirit our Head Master, Mr. Joseph A. Leary, that he may there receive as a perpetual memorial to the Class of 1945 the gift of our year book resplendent in its colors of black and gold from the Literary Editor, Matina Verenis. The Editor presents Volume XVII of "The Gothic" with these words when he addresses Mr Leary,

"As you peruse the pages of this year book, we sincerely hope that you may feel the grateful appreciation for all that you have done for us individually and for the Class as a whole. May you see reflected in the faces that peer from these pages the feeling of pride in your leadership as a scholar, in your standards of fairness and justice as an administrator, and in your tolerance and kindness as a friend. We pledge to you our everlasting loyalty in the years to come when we hope to enter these halls again after the battle is over and when we shall clasp your hand once more.

For the Class of 1945 I respectfully offer you, Mr. Leary, Volume XVII of 'The Gothic'."

Let our headmaster present to the spirit of Brighton High School the medal which shall ever be to her a memento of this most felicitous occasion.

Let the Chief Marshal, Aubert Boulais now receive from her Alma Mater a medal which shall keep in her remembrance this eventful day.

The Spirit shall here bestow upon the Herald, Joseph L. Ferreira a token emblematic of his place of honor in this ceremony.

Let the Senior color bearers, Bruce Chambers and Joseph Dombrowski attended by the Senior color guards, Mario Casale and Herbert Johnson transmit guardianship of the National, State, and School colors to the Junior color bearers attended by the Junior color guard.

Let the Seniors now march forth to dedicate the Class Tree which as its spreading branches add beauty to the noble terraces of their Alma Mater, shall become an ever glorious and living symbol of the enduring loyalty of the Class of 1945 to Brighton High School. Here Roy S. MacLean speaks the following words as he dedicates the tree.

"Mr. Leary, Friends, Teachers and Classmates, the Class of 1945 has met here on our classday; to dedicate this living memorial as a symbolic token of our love and respect for our Alma Mater. As this tree ages its roots become enriched from the soil of our "Castle on the hill". And as they grasp firmly their just place, they will spread with yearly importance, so may our class members gain a foothold, then climb ladders of successful achievement and grow in enduring loyalty to our school, we shall seize opportunities requisite for our success and thereby reflect honor upon Brighton High School".

Class Oration -- 1945

Mr. Leary, members of the faculty, friends, and fellow students:

Now we have reached what we, the class of 1945, consider a pinnacle in our preparation for life. This, the summit of our dreamy youth, points into the practical world of realities—a world which will mean joining one of the armed services, entering into the business world, furthering our education, or settling down to a domestic life.

But with this world as it is today, it is difficult for us to see clearly what our future will be; for before we shall decide what road we shall follow in our personal lives, we must join in the struggle of today—the struggle to win a lasting peace. And though this graduating class is unimportant in the annals of Brighton High School, we shall do what we ought to do; we shall do our share toward this great end. Thus, we shall endeavor to maintain and uphold that which our class motto clearly conveys. "Id facere, laus est, quod decet, non quod licet." "Glory consists in doing what we ought to do, not in doing what we are permitted to do."

Therefore, it is the duty of our graduating class to carry on in striving to complete the task which those who started before us have so determinedly proceeded to accomplish. Men will not remember the part we played in this enormous theater, but we will have had the satisfaction of having cooperated toward completing this great task. In this way, we shall be an honor to our parents and to our teachers; for to them is due what credit we may deserve.

By the assistance with which our parents and our teachers have guided us in the past, we are better able to carry the burden which is ahead of us. With firmness in our endeavors and fidelity to our beliefs, we shall, as patriotic citizens of our beloved nation, the United States of America, vanquish, in this greatest conflict of all times, our treacherous enemy.

It is our personal right and our obligation, to protect, to defend, and to fight for our ideals, so that we may proudly transmit to the future generation of our country, a nation which is managed by a just government, concerned in holding the peace.

No matter what we want to do or what we are compelled to do, we must, each and every one, attempt to achieve the "glory which consists in doing what we ought to do, not in what we are permitted to do."

Class History -- 1945

It was in the spring of 1942 that we made our Pullman reservations on the train to maturity. In September of the same year, reservations in hand, we entered the special car, Brighton High School and settled back comfortably for our long anticipated ride. What a ride it was! Not having been pre-warned and being young and inexperienced, we were totally unprepared for the hazards of wartime travel.

We nestled back luxuriously in our hard seats, quaking with fear and anticipation, only somewhat comforted by the few familiar faces round us. Summoned by unaccustomed and awesome bells, we were heralded into the presence of our train conductor, Mr. Leary. Seated in the auditorium as Mr. Leary presided over us for the first time, we were impressed not only by our new surroundings but by our speaker as well. He was so——big! We were slightly reassured by the fact that Mr. Leary, as our conductor, knew our destination and the route by which to reach it. Maybe it woudn't be too bad, we hoped!

Our orientation began. One of the first feats placed before us for accomplishment was to go from the gym to 318 in the alloted three minutes filing time and arrive on time. We did try—. Our lack of success was aided by our confused sense of direction and the vastness of the building. Slowly we gained confidence. Our upper classmen we regarded with a little less fear; and I must admit, a little less respect. We were getting used to the swing of the train. One thing, however, kept us in a constant state of frenzy and consternation, the lunchroom. To our young and immature minds the problem of obtaining nourishment seemed most difficult. We thought it merely a question of time before becoming familiar with the lunchroom routine. However, even today we are trying to use the time element as a means of comfort.

Inspired by upper classmen's pleas, we went all out for our new school's clubs and athletic teams. Our earliest and deepest enthusiasm was prompted by the football team under the co-captainship of Leon Granahan and Gregory Henesy. So impressed were we by their prowess that we paid all our debts, athletic association and student council, as well as subscribing to our magazine, Brighton Towers. Detention and demerits familiar to some of us, stern reality to others, made us feel that we were moving rapidly along. In the midst of our journey the mighty train slackened speed, allowing the following assistant conductors to alight: Miss Stuart, Mr. Tully, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Howe, and Mr. Randall, all of whom entered the Armed Forces. The senior play The Hickory Stick, was to us the last and best social event of the year. Before we quite realized the fact, June was upon us. We had completed the first lap of our journey.

In the fall of '43 we resumed speed for another bumpy but enjoyable ride. We found that as juniors we had gained new stature and poise.

Seasoned travelers now, we discovered many new items to entertain as well as to educate us. Junior Town Meetings of the Air, one of these new features, were presented at assemblies throughout the year. Because of the whole hearted student participation, these Town Meetings soon became one of the highlights of the assembly programs.

Time flew by as our train whizzed along the tracks. Loyally we cheered our boys on the athletic teams to victory. Our cheering efforts were well rewarded by their many successes.

When politics entered our lives for the first time in January '44, the realization that our trip was nearly over dawned upon us. After waging much verbal warfare, the following officers were elected: Bill Collins, President; Marie Conroy, Vice President; Lucille Nelmes, Treasurer; Mary Cloherty, Secretary.

War time conditions and their accompanying sacrifices were brought home to us by the departure of many of our boys into the Armed Forces. Foremost among them was Bill Collins, our President, whose position was then capably filled by Marie Conroy, Vice President.

The death of a classmate Arlene Bonin, on January sixth was to all a keen blow. Our loss was truly a great one.

In the spring of our Junior year, Matina Verenis, a prominent member of our class stepped forward to receive first prize in the annual American history competition sponsored by the Hearst papers. She brought honor not only to her school by placing high in the city wide test, but to her class as well. We were indeed proud of her.

Our attendance at a senior play, Midnight, thrilled us and filled us with the fire of ambition. Our turn was next. We could hardly wait!

Pleased and happy were we to welcome Mr. Tully back to our midst. All agreed that the Army's loss was our gain, and listened with bated breath to his tales of military efficiency.

On Class Day and at graduation exercises we had our first chance to take part in the final events of the year. Deeply impressed by their beauty, we anxiously awaited the next lap of our trip when we could do full justice to the traditional Brighton High School exercises.

With June came final tests and then freedom for two whole months! We weren't too—reluctant to stop over on our seemingly long and endless journey to maturity.

On boarding the train in September '44 for the final lap of our journey, we noted with sadness the absence of Mrs. Goulding, and her baking soda! In her stead we found Mrs. O'Dwyer. As she also had baking soda, we welcomed her gladly. How could we ever have combated our ills without this sparkling, delicious beverage? While running through the cars of the train we failed to find two familiar assistant conductors, Miss Burke and Miss Creedon, who had answered the call to duty; Miss Burke to serve with the Coast Guard, Miss Creedon to make life more enjoyable to the Armed Forces by serving in the U.S.O. Despite these absentees the train pulled away from the station under full steam.

The increasing tempo of the Brighton High Special brought more frequent and weighty problems. Now we were really going places!

Student passengers inaugurated a new feature, Talent Shows. Viewed with pleasure by all, these productions stopped off to perform for the patients of the Brighton Marine Hospital.

War activities brought a Red Cross Home Nursing course which was passed successfully by twenty-two senior girls. Bond drives continued to be one of our major sources of patriotic work. During the drive of the month of December alone we sold ninety-six hundred dollars worth of bonds and stamps. We were busy every minute. However, we enjoyed all the hustle and bustle of senior activities.

Again politics entered our lives in January. Blackboard campaigns were carried out most effectively. Campaign battle cries and slogans rang from one end of the corridor to the other. Lunch table orators harangued their worth as candidates throughout the lunch period. Nomination papers were in constant display. Indecision was uppermost in all minds. "For whom shall I vote?" was the question heard continually. Verbal wars were waged once more. And then came the fatal day of the election. After much mental conflict and pencil chewing the following passengers were given seats of honor: Gerardo Coletti, President; Bruce Chambers, Vice President; Lucille Nelmes, Treasurer; Mary Cloherty, Secretary; Mary Mazzola, Orator; Josephine Donisi, Chairman of Executive committee; Jeanette Hull, Gertrude Twomey, Auberte Boulais, Chief Marshal; Doris Koumrian, Barbara Hughes, Kay Comerford, Michael Vatalaro, Eugene Yarnell, Joseph Ferreira, Anthony Basile.

Elections were followed by the Senior Promenade. This long-heralded social event was held in the Hotel Bradford on February 16. However, before the actual evening of the dance, strange scramblings could be seen throughout the building. The objects of these scrimmages were poor little "Soph" boys. About this time Senior girls officially added a chant to their repertoires. The title of the selection was "Should I should, or should I shouldn't take a 'soph' boy to the prom?" Despite this most disturbing question many girls successfully snagged a man. With a large attendance the Prom was the best ever held. At least, that's what we thought. We will never forget the music, the night, the pleasure of seeing our teachers socially; and the memory of seeing Mr. Gibbons dance so sm-o-o-o-thly will be with us for many years to come.

After a week's vacation during which we had time to regain normalcy (some really needed it!), we returned to the hustle and bustle of our busy lives.

Rehearsals for our Senior play, A Woman of Fifteen, got under way. Presented on May 4th, the antics of Jane, the lovable heroine, as portrayed by Jane Donahue, were admirably supported by the performances of the entire cast. The devastating menace and the French movie star as portrayed by Kay McClellan and Lucille Nelmes respectively held great appeal, especially for the boys. While a complete audience laughed along with the performance of Richard Brown as Henry Warren, the female population was quietly swooning over handsome Robert Grant, whose part and broad shoulders were filled by Bruce Chambers. We were indebted to the complete cast and their directors, Mr. and Mrs. Burnham, for a most enjoyable and unforgettable evening.

Suddenly the smoothly running train perceptibly lessened speed. Now, at long last, we have pulled into the station. All that remains is for us, travel-stained and weary as we are, to accept from our esteemed conductor, that long-sought for symbol of maturity, a diploma!
